Dear Commissioners:

In accordance with the provisions of Section 52D-2 of the Hawaii Revised Statutes, and Article VII, Chapter 2, Section 7-2.4, of the Hawaii County Charter, I am pleased to submit to you the Annual Report of the Hawaii Police Department for Fiscal Year 2003-2004.

Among the accomplishments made during the fiscal year were the establishment of two Ice Task Forces (ITF’s), one each in Area I and Area II, and the placement of School Resource Officers in six middle and intermediate schools on the Big Island — Pahoa, Hilo Intermediate, Waiakea, Honokaa, Konawaena and Kealakehe.

In addition, the Department has continued the implementation of its new computerized Records Management System and started training personnel on how to best utilize the system.

We hope this year’s annual report will give you a better understanding of what the Police Department has done for the Big Island community during the 2003-2004 Fiscal Year.

The Department’s Mission Statement, Vision Statement and Core Values are followed at the highest level and have increased the community’s respect, support and collaboration with the Department. Secondly, the morale of sworn and civilian employees are at record levels.

I and members of the Department want to express our deepest appreciation for the support you have given to us over the past year.

LAWRENCE K. MAHUNA
Police Chief
Hawaii Police Department
Dear Mayor Kim:

The fiscal year saw the establishment of Ice Task Forces in both East and West Hawaii, the placement of School Resource Officers in six middle schools and the continued implementation of the new Records Management System.

The support you have given the Department, both as Mayor and as Civil Defense Administrator, is greatly appreciated by the Commission and the men and women of the Department.

HORACE S. HARA

Core Values, Mission & Vision Statements

Based on the Hawaii Police Department’s core values, the vision and mission statements succinctly express the vision and mission of the Hawaii Police Department. The vision statement was designed to describe a desired future, and the mission statement was to provide direction for the department.

Mission Statement
The employees of the Hawaii Police Department are committed to preserving the Spirit of Aloha. We will work cooperatively with the community to enforce the laws, preserve peace, and provide a safe environment.

Vision Statement
The Hawaii Police Department is committed to providing the highest quality of police service and forming partnerships with the community to achieve public satisfaction making the Big Island a safe place to live, visit, and conduct business.

Core Values
- Integrity
- Professionalism
- Compassion
- Teamwork
- Community Satisfaction

Commendations, Administrative Investigations & Clearances

During Fiscal Year 2003-2004, Hawaii Police Department officers received a total of 307 commendations, or an average of nearly 26 a month. Commendations are made to officers who act above and beyond the normal call of duty to aid the public or to officers who receive letters of appreciation from the public.

During the same period, the Internal Affairs Unit conducted a total of 74 administrative investigations of officers accused of wrongdoing. As a result of the investigations, seven officers were terminated, 18 were suspended, 23 received counseling or a written reprimand and 21 were exonerated or their cases were determined to be unfounded. Five more cases were settled otherwise.

During Calendar Year 2003, officers investigated 9,599 reported Part I Offenses—that is, major crimes of violence or theft. Of these, 235 were determined to be unfounded. Of the remaining 9,364 actual offenses, 3,206—or 34 percent—were cleared by arrest or other means. This compares with a clearance rate of 38 percent during the previous calendar year.
The Hawaii County Police Commission consists of nine members. One member is appointed from each of the nine county districts. The members are appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the County Council. According to the County Charter, the functions of the Police Commission are to:

- Adopt rules as it may consider necessary for the conduct of its business and regulation of the matters committed to its charge and review the rules and regulations of the department.
- Review the department’s annual budget prepared by the police chief and make recommendations thereon to the managing director and mayor.
- Submit an annual report to the mayor and the County Council.
- Receive, consider and investigate charges brought by the public against the conduct of the department or any of its members and submit a written report of its findings to the police chief.
- Advise the police chief on police-community relations.
- Hire personnel necessary to carry out its functions.

At the end of the fiscal year, the Police Commission members were:

- Chairman, Horace S. Hara, District IV-South Hilo.
- Vice Chairman, Dwight K. Manago, District VII-South Kona.
- Pudding Lassiter, District I-Hamakua. (Commissioner Lassiter replaced Phoebe Lambeth during the fiscal year.)
- Peter P. Muller, District II-South Hilo.
- Paul M. de Silva, District III-South Hilo.
- Vacant, District V-Puna.
- Betsy Mitchell, District VI-Upper Puna.
- John M. Bertsch, District VIII-North Kona.
- James A. Frazier, District IX-North and South Kohala.
Creation of Ice Task Forces

In response to the growing problem of trafficking and use of crystal methamphetamine, or "ice," the Police Department formed two "Ice" Task Forces (ITF’s), one in Area I (East Hawaii) and the other in Area II (West Hawaii) within the existing Vice Sections.

The units were formed to focus efforts on reducing and disrupting the flow of crystal methamphetamine into and throughout the County and State of Hawaii.

Secondly, they were instructed that the reduction of “social terrorism” experienced by the citizens in our communities and subdivisions through the removal of “ice houses” was just as important as the interdiction process.

Working in conjunction with the attorney general’s Nuisance Abatement Team, the Ice Task Force officers shut down many “ice houses.” Consequently, many neighborhoods returned to normal without having to contend with the constant traffic, noise, property crimes and domestic violence that accompany an “ice house.”

Each of the Ice Task Forces was initiated in September with the selection of one detective—Detective Marshall K. Kanehailua in Area I and Detective Derrik Diego in Area II—and later filled with an additional two officers in November.

Ice Hotlines were established to receive calls from members of the public who want to provide information on the use and distribution of crystal methamphetamine on the Big Island. The numbers are 934-"VICE" (934-8423) in East Hawaii and 329-"ZERO-ICE" (329-0423) in West Hawaii. Each hotline received about 30 calls per month during the September-October 2003 period. Since then, the calls have steadily declined to one or two calls per week.

From November 1, 2003, through February 28, 2004, the Area I task force generated 52 search warrants, resulting in 578 total arrests on 115 different individuals and the seizure of 853.8 grams of crystal methamphetamine with a street value of about $84,000; 110.7 grams of cocaine with a street value of nearly $6,000; 665.7 grams of marijuana with a street value of nearly $12,000; 1,105 grams psilocybin; 40 ecstasy tablets; 80 controlled illegal tablets; 26 weapons; and $59,406 in asset forfeiture.

During the same period, the Area II task force generated 59 search warrants, resulting in 592 arrests on 104 individuals and the seizure of 1,915.6 grams of methamphetamine with a street value of about $189,000; 25 grams of cocaine with a street value of $1,300; 1,008.5 grams of marijuana with a street value of $17,750; 366 marijuana plants; 153 controlled illegal tablets; 37 weapons; and $101,545 in asset forfeiture.

School Resource Officer Program

The Community Policing Program began an interview and selection process for a new and innovative School Resource Officer program.

The program was made possible through a COPS (Community Oriented Policing Services) in Schools grant from the COPS Office. The grant provided funding for the hiring of six School Resource Officers for the program.

One school resource officer was assigned to each of six Big Island middle and intermediate schools. The schools are Pahoa, Hilo Intermediate, Waiakea, Honokaa, Konawaena and Kealakehe.
Internal Affairs & Criminal Intelligence Units

The Internal Affairs and Criminal Intelligence Units are separate from the rest of the Hawaii Police Department and answerable to the police chief. The two units are headed by Captain Henry J. Tavares.

Internal Affairs Unit
The Internal Affairs Unit is responsible for investigating allegations of employee misconduct and reviewing investigations conducted by supervisors. Investigations conducted by the unit seek to determine not only if misconduct occurred, but also the underlying reasons for the employee’s behavior. In addition, procedural changes and training needs are often identified and recommended.

Doing its part to keep up the morale of the department’s employees, the unit strives to conduct fair and thorough investigations in a timely manner. The unit conducted 40 internal investigations and 98 inquiries in 2003.

The unit also conducts Quality Control and Compliance Inspections (QCCI) of various elements of the department to prevent the abuse, misuse, fraud and waste of departmental resources.

The goal of the QCCI is to provide a safe working environment, maintain a degree of government and public trust and prevent financial abuses which could cost the department resources that could be utilized for legitimate purposes while at the same time creating an attitude of pride and discipline.

Criminal Intelligence Unit
The Criminal Intelligence Unit, which maintains offices in Hilo and Kona, gathers, maintains and analyzes intelligence for the purposes of keeping police administrators informed about the extent, nature and characteristics of organized crime activity and drug trafficking organizations as well as issues dealing with homeland defense. The unit is also responsible for conducting criminal history checks for prospective employees of the department as well as of other state and federal law enforcement agencies.

The unit is a member of the Law Enforcement Intelligence Unit (LIEU), a national organization for criminal intelligence officers, and is part of the state organization, Inter-County Criminal Intelligence Unit (ICCIU).

CIU regularly conducted intelligence briefings and in-service training for investigators and patrol officers. In addition, the unit participated in 621 criminal investigations and provided assistance to various elements of the department as well as to other county, state and federal law enforcement agencies.
The Administrative Bureau is divided into two divisions — Administrative Services and Technical Services. Each division is headed by a police major.

The Administrative Services Division, headed by Major Ron T. Nakamichi, is divided into the Finance Section, Word Processing Section, Public Relations Section and Human Resources Section. The Human Resources Section oversees safety and workers' compensation, personnel, training, community relations and research and development.

The Technical Services Division, headed by Acting Assistant Chief Elroy T.L. Osorio, is in charge of the Communications-Maintenance Section, Computer Center Section, Communications-Dispatch Section, Records and Identification Section, Traffic Services-Periodic Motor Vehicle Inspection Section and Traffic Services-Driver Licensing Section.

Finance Section
The Finance Section encompasses areas such as payroll, accounts payable, storeroom inventory, officer’s gas and oil accounts, special duty work and other finance-related matters.

The section has been cross-training its employees to ensure continuity in the event of an individual’s absence.

The section is comprised of one Accountant IV, Kay K. Nishibayashi, who heads the section, and nine civilian employees.

Word Processing Section
The primary job of the Word Processing Center is to transcribe police reports dictated by all officers, detectives and rank officers and to route the reports to all necessary agencies and districts for prosecutorial measures.

During the 2003-2004 Fiscal Year, the Word Processing Center worked long hours in an attempt to keep up with the high workload. An inordinate amount of overtime was incurred in an effort to complete the reports in a timely manner. An average of 4,005 reports were transcribed each month, totaling more than 48,000 reports during the fiscal year.

The center had a change in command when Linda Hisashima retired as clerical services supervisor in March 2004. Assistant Clerical Supervisor Sandi Anthony was promoted and filled the clerical services supervisor position on June 1, 2004.

The section is comprised of one clerical services supervisor, Sandi L. Anthony, and 12 Clerk III positions.

Communications-Dispatch Section
The Communications-Dispatch Section is headed by a lieutenant, Earl Hatada. A sergeant, three civilian supervisory police dispatchers and 32 civilian police radio dispatchers.

During Calendar Year 2003, there were 149,802 emergency 911 calls made to dispatch. It is estimated that more than 85 percent of them, or 127,332 calls, required police services where a police officer was dispatched. The remaining 15 percent of the calls, or 22,470, required services provided by the Fire Department and were transferred to the Hawaii County Fire Department.

It is also estimated that three times as many calls to dispatch, or 449,406, were made using the non-emergency number, 935-3311. Non-emergency calls included calls from officers requesting criminal, traffic and miscellaneous/public bulletin report numbers; checks on individuals; or other information from police data bases. Calls from the general public included requests for assistance on non-emergency matters, information on public events, advice, status of criminal complaints, filing of criminal complaints and other requests made for non-emergency police services.

The department is continually trying to upgrade the equipment and ergonomics in the Dispatch Center. In addition, new and refresher training is on-going in dispatch.
Records and Identification Section

The Records and Identification Section is headed by a lieutenant, Jay Enanoria, and 17 civilian employees.

The section has been undergoing an extensive upgrade of its computerized records system, and the Police Department is expected to “go live” with its Records Management System (RMS) in the latter part of October 2004. The system is named “INPUR-SUIT”.

The OCI/Denali Solutions Team and RMS Committee Team have been working closely together towards implementation of this project. Both teams are confident that the existing RMS product that was originally proposed to the department, combined with all the customizations that have been added, will exceed expectations of this new integrated computer system.

Instructor training on the new RMS began on June 23, 2004. Denali Solutions sent two of their trainers to provide training for the department’s core trainers. The core trainers have since been busy training the rest of the department personnel on the new system. Topics covered in the training include:

- Calls for Service Module.
- All Points Bulletin Module.
- Incident Module.
- Master Name Module.
- Master Vehicle Module.
- Property Module.
- Arrest Module.
- Accident Module.
- Court Document Module.
- Employee Module.
- Lanier Word Processing Interface.
- Scanning/Imaging Component.

Denali Solutions has also provided the department with an on-site support engineer for the first year of the project during “live” operations where most questions will arise and user support will be necessary. The support engineer will work with the designated system administrator in managing the new system and its administration.

Data is transmitted electronically from terminals in the outlying police districts directly to the RMS database in Hilo.

In addition to the RMS, the Hawaii Criminal Justice Data Center has installed two additional Livescan units — computerized fingerprinting systems — in Hilo and Kona.

With the continuing advances in technology, the new Livescans have been integrated with the Mug Photo system, combining the capture of fingerprints, palm prints and mug photos of an offender in one device.

The department has interfaced the Green Box — a computer program that assembles Livescan and Mug Photo information into formats that can be read by state and federal computer systems — with RMS. This improvement allows a police officer to book an arrestee and to transfer the booking data, including mug photos, electronically to the RMS, thereby eliminating the need for redundant entry of data.

The interface was made possible because of the cooperation of the Police Department, the Hawaii Criminal Justice Data Center and Denali Solutions.

The new RMS is expected to provide improved data capturing and reporting capabilities that will enhance investigations and crime analysis. In a sense, the Records and Identification Section will be open “24/7” where officers can access records any time of day.

Traffic Services Section

The Traffic Services Section is headed by a sergeant, Randy K. Apele.

The section has three primary components. They include traffic services functions relating to road closure permits, traffic enforcement grants, school crossing guards and traffic safety; Periodic Motor Vehicle Inspection (PMVI) program relating to the safety inspection of motor vehicles; and Driver License Section, headed by Naomi O’Dell, relating to the issuance of permits, driver licenses, commercial driver licenses and taxi permits.
Highlights include the success of specialized enforcement programs such as "Click It or Ticket" and "You Drink, You Drive, You Lose," resulting in increased seat belt usage rates, impaired driving arrest rates and the correlating effects on traffic safety.

During Fiscal Year 2003-2004, the Traffic Services Section:

- Issued 97 road closure permits (a decrease from 132 for the previous year).

- Conducted 210 inspections of school crossing guards (an increase from the 170 recorded for the previous year) and conducted training courses in East and West Hawaii for all crossing guards to improve safety at crossing locations.

- Issued 78 new taxi permits and completed 141 renewals of taxi permits (a decrease from 157 new taxi permits issued the previous year and an increase from the 105 renewals completed the previous year).

- Conducted 623 inspections of PMVI safety inspections (an increase from the 610 made the previous year). In addition, 107 investigations for violations of the Hawaii Administrative Rules relating to safety inspections were conducted (a decrease from the 157 conducted for the previous year). These investigations resulted in nine suspensions of PMVI safety inspectors for serious or major violations and the issuance of 87 violation letters for minor infractions. Seven investigations were closed as unfounded and four were closed as record only.

- Administered 13,003 written driver's tests, 5,353 driver road tests and 1,234 Commercial Driver's License (CDL) written tests (an increase from the 11,866 written driver's tests and 5,232 driver road tests administered the previous year and a decrease from the 1,435 CDL written driver's tests administered the previous year).

The Kona Driver's License/PMVI office moved from the Old Kona airport to the new offices at 75-5722 Hanama Place in April 2004. The new offices provide added space and conveniences for the staff and community.

- Completed the Volunteer Disabled Parking enforcement pilot program in the Kona District. Four volunteer officers continue to conduct enforcement resulting in the issuance of 152
citations for violations and recovery of seven improperly used or expired parking placards. Volunteers also formed partnerships with many businesses, retail locations and residential properties to improve parking stalls to meet federal regulations.

- Obtained more than $276,000 in traffic enforcement grants from the Hawaii Department of Transportation Safe Communities Program. Grants were obtained to purchase traffic enforcement and investigation equipment, to provide traffic investigation training and to fund impaired driving, underaged drinking, speed and seat belt enforcement projects.

The impaired driving grant augmented the establishment of 109 sobriety checkpoints and screening of 16,304 vehicles. Officers initiated 87 arrests for impaired driving and 159 arrests for other offenses and issued 622 citations.

The underaged drinking grant targeted underaged drinking and large parties in public areas. A total of 146 arrests for underaged drinking and 58 arrests for other offenses were made.

As a consequence of the speed enforcement grant, 1,484 speed and 703 other citations were issued, 13 motorists were arrested for impaired driving and 59 were arrested for other offenses. Emphasis continues to be placed on illegal, or "outlaw" road racing and illegally modified vehicles.

Utilizing seat belt enforcement grants, officers issued 2,722 seat belt citations, 87 child restraint citations and 2,024 other citations. A total of 113 arrests were also made during these projects.

In addition, Click It or Ticket 3-on-3 Basketball Tournaments were held in Hilo, Kona and Keaau. The goal of the tournaments was to increase awareness of the seat belt usage laws for front and back seat passengers aged 17 and under. A total of 187 basketball teams composed of more than 1,000 youths aged 6 through 17 competed in the three events. Also, 1,000 “Click It or Ticket” T-shirts were given to all participants and volunteers, and awards were issued to the top placing teams in each age group.

As a result of these efforts, seat belt usage rates in Hilo increased from 90 percent in the previous fiscal year to a current rate of 96 percent. Youth seat belt rates also increased from 78 percent in the previous fiscal year to the current 87 percent.

In addition, impaired driving arrests increased from 911 during the previous fiscal year to 1,141 for this fiscal year, which amounts of an increase of 25 percent.
Area I Operations Bureau

The Area I Operations Bureau includes investigative and patrol operations in East Hawaii. Specifically, it includes the districts of Hamakua, North Hilo, South Hilo and Puna — an area encompassing 1,685 square miles. Each of the four patrol districts is headed by a captain.

The Area I Operations Bureau is headed by Assistant Police Chief Charles M. Chai Jr. and Major David A. Kawauchi.

Area I Criminal Investigation Division

The Criminal Investigation Division (CID) investigates all crimes of violence, theft, fraud, commercialized vice and narcotics; apprehends perpetrators of these crimes; and compiles evidence and information for the prosecution of all persons charged with violations of criminal statutes.

The division is under the command of a police captain who oversees the operations of the respective sections, which are the Criminal Investigation Section (CIS), Juvenile Aid Section (JAS), Vice Section and the Crime Lab.

The division is commanded by Captain Samuel Thomas.

The Criminal Investigation Section (CIS) is responsible for the investigation of all major crimes. These include homicides, assaults, property crimes and fraud.

The section is manned by a lieutenant, Steven Guillermo, and nine detectives.

During the 2003-2004 Fiscal Year, Area I detectives investigated three murders, clearing two of them, and six attempted murders, of which all six were cleared through investigation. In June 2004, Area I CIS also cleared an attempted homicide that occurred in 2002. The section was also able to maintain an overall case clearance rate of 76 percent of total assignments.

In addition, the Area I CIS investigated two bank robberies in July 2003 and cleared both of them as well. One of the bank robbers was also found to be responsible for an armed robbery of a health food store, which occurred in the Puna district in July 2003. In April 2004, detectives also cleared an attempted bank robbery that occurred in June 2003. In August 2003, the Hilo community was greatly concerned with two “home invasion” robberies that took place at the residences of elderly occupants. Following diligent efforts by both detectives and patrol personnel, both of these were cleared. A “home invasion” robbery that occurred in the Puna District in July 2003 was also cleared with the arrest of five individuals that same month.

The Juvenile Aid Section (JAS) is responsible for the investigation of cases involving juveniles as victims or perpetrators. Investigations conducted include assaults, property crimes and status offenses. Juvenile programs such as the Positive Alternatives to Gang Education (P.A.G.E.) and the Hawaii Isle Police Activities League (HI-PAL) are designed to reach the youths at risk with the help of athletics and classroom curriculum for gang resistance and drug deterrence.

JAS is further divided into two specialized units consisting of the Sex Crimes Unit, specializing in sexual assault investigations, and the Domestic Violence Unit, specializing in domestic abuse cases.

The section is staffed by a lieutenant, Kenneth F. Vieirra, six detectives and one police officer.

In June 2003, the Domestic Violence Unit gained additional assistance through the hiring of a grant-funded victims’ services technician. The duties of the technician are data entry as well as providing outreach referral services to victims of domestic violence and sexual assaults.

In August 2003, Area I JAS detectives investigated a house fire which fully engulfed a residence belonging to a retired woman in the Hilo area. The investigation revealed that the home had been burned as a result of trying to destroy a stolen car which had been used as transportation to commit an illegal car entry near a Hilo business and to flee the scene. The investigation was cleared after three suspects had been identified and located, and the case was forwarded to the County Prosecutor’s Office.

The Hawaii Isle Police Activities League (HI-PAL) is a proactive program designed to encourage the young people of our communities to engage in constructive and supervised athletic activities. The goals of HI-PAL include embracing the spirit of loyalty and faith in American traditions and promoting sportsmanship, benevolence, friendship, sociability, good will and tolerance. Another goal is to promote and safeguard youth and to provide a meeting place for youth and the promotion of their common interest. It has been shown that athletics, by its very nature, is a counter-drug using activity. The HI-PAL program runs activities throughout the calendar year.

During the 2003-2004 Fiscal Year, the HI-PAL program served approximately 9,690 youths through scheduled activities. It should also be noted that 3,647 of the participating youths have been deemed to be “at risk” youths.

The Vice Section is responsible for the prevention and suppression of all forms of commercialized vice activity, including prostitution, gambling and illegal trafficking of narcotics. Special operations and covert programs are in place to combat the cultivation of marijuana and distribution of illegal drugs on the Big Island. Federal and state grants sometime provide the necessary funding to accomplish the objectives.

Vice officers belong to the Statewide Narcotics Task Force and Statewide Marijuana Eradication Task Force and are involved in joint operations with the Drug Enforcement Administration and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The Vice Section also is part of the Hawaii High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area (HIDTA) task force.

At the end of the fiscal year, the Vice Section was staffed by a lieutenant, Norman N. Keamo, three detectives and six police officers.

On August 16, 2003, the Area I Vice Section was augmented with the creation and addition of an “Ice” Task Force (ITF) consisting of personnel from within the department. The primary goal of the task force is to identify, disrupt, prosecute and ultimately dismantle street, mid- and upper-level drug traffick-
Hamakua District
The Hamakua District, which encompasses 223 square miles, borders the North Kohala District at Honopue and the North Hilo District at Kaala. With a population of 6,108 according to the 2000 census, its patrol officers operate from a central station and a police mini-station, both located in the town of Honokaa.

The district is staffed by a captain, Edwin W. Rapozo Jr., who also commands the North Hilo District, two sergeants and 14 police officers.

During Calendar Year 2003, a total of 220 Part I offenses—that is, major crimes of violence or theft—and 344 less serious Part II offenses were reported in the Hamakua District. The Part I offenses included a rape, two robberies and four aggravated assaults.

North Hilo District
The North Hilo District is 144 square miles, making it the second smallest of the eight police districts in size. It is also the smallest in population with 1,720 residents, according to the 2000 census. Its police station is located in Laupahoehoe. The district is bounded by the Hamakua District at Kaala and the South Hilo District at Hakalau.

The district shares a captain, Edwin W. Rapozo Jr., with the Hamakua District. It also has one sergeant and 11 police officers.

As in the past, the North Hilo District recorded the least number of crimes during Calendar Year 2003—a total of 58 Part I offenses and 77 Part II offenses. The most serious Part I offenses were two assaults.

South Hilo District
The South Hilo District encompasses 635 square miles and is bounded by the North Hilo District at Hakalau and the Puna District at Papai. Its police station, located in Hilo, is the central police station for the entire Hawaii Police Department. South Hilo patrol and community policing officers also operate out of mini-stations located at the Waiakea-uka Gym, Clem Akina Park, and Richardson Beach Park.

With a population of 47,386, the district is staffed by a captain, Larry R. Weber, four lieutenants, six sergeants and 62 police officers.

The East Hawaii Detention Center, located off the Hualalai Street entrance, began housing pre-arraignment detainees on July 8, 2003. The detention center has 18 individual cells, one observation cell, one padded cell and two temporary holding cells. Two

In this year, the Hawaii Police Department received a substantial donation of $3.9 million from U.S. Senator Daniel K. Inouye. The funds were allocated to fight the distribution and abuse of crystal methamphetamine, commonly referred to as “ice.”

At the event, the senator was accompanied by County Prosecutor Jay Kimura, Deputy Chief Harry Atayama, Sergeant Amy Miyao, Detective Melvin and Joyce Unoki. Among others, are County Prosecutor Jay Kimura, Deputy Chief Harry Atayama, Sergeant Amy Miyao, Detective Melvin and Joyce Unoki.

In a separate ceremony, the department honored several officers for their service during the year. Among those honored were Josie Pelayo, Major David Kawauchi, Detective Burt Shimabukuro, Detective Tom Poy, Officer Manuel Benevides, and Lieutenant James Kelly.

The “Silver Bullets” basketball team won the Golden Masters Division in the 2004 SHOPO State Police Basketball Tournament. The team included Tom Poy, left, Tom Waltjen, Kaleo Perez, Prentiss Moreno, Uwao Chartrand, Paul Silva and Greg Esteban.

During Moonlight Madness, some of the Police Department team walked to benefit cancer research. of the 18 individual cells are able to accommodate the disabled.

In addition to holding those arrested by Hawaii County police officers, the detention center does courtesy holds for other law enforcement agencies such as the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Drug Enforcement Administration, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives, Immigration and Customs Enforcement Agency and the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park.

Having the largest population of any district, the South Hilo District accounted for the largest number of crimes on the Big Island. In Calendar Year 2003, South Hilo reported 3,411 Part I offenses and 6,633 Part II offenses, amounting to 38 percent of all crimes on the Big Island. Among the more serious Part I crimes were a murder, 12 rapes, 34 robberies and 51 aggravated assaults.

Puna District

The Puna Patrol District encompasses 683 square miles and is bounded by the South Hilo District at Papai and the Ka‘u District at Keauhou Landing. The district station is located in Keaau, and a substation is located in the town of Pahoa in lower Puna. It has a population of 31,335, according to the 2000 census.

At the end of the fiscal year, the district was manned by a captain, Derek D. Pacheco, a lieutenant, four sergeants and 38 police officers.

Because of a grass roots campaign by community members, business owners, law enforcement and political representatives, Pahoa Village was chosen as the Big Island’s candidate site for the “Weed and Seed” Program, a federal program designed to allow communities to address problems of drug abuse and trafficking, lack of youth activities, social rehabilitation and community beautification.

The community-based initiative is aimed at reducing drug use, violent crime and other lawlessness in places designated as high crime areas. Criminals are “weeded out” through greater law enforcement and punishment, then “seeding” occurs with programs relating to drug treatment, intervention and education.

The “weed” portion is primarily left to the police to arrest and remove drug dealers, prostitutes and deal with other street crimes. The “seed” program is a collaborative effort of the non-profit organizations and the private sector to generate new businesses and other legal activities back into the area.

In mid-2004, Pahoa Village was chosen as the Weed and Seed site for the entire state. The designation will qualify the Pahoa program to compete for monetary grants from the national Operation Weed and Seed organization run by the U.S. Justice Department. The program offers participating communities $175,000 a year for five years and gives them preference in obtaining other federal funds, training and assistance.

During 2003, the Puna District recorded 1,840 Part I offenses and 2,824 Part II offenses. Violent crimes included a murder, 10 rapes, 13 robberies and 45 aggravated assaults.
The Area II Operations Bureau includes investigative and patrol operations in West Hawaii. Specifically, it includes the districts of North Kohala, South Kohala, Kona and Ka’u — an area encompassing 2,345 square miles. Each of the four patrol districts is headed by a captain.

The Area II Operations Bureau is headed by Assistant Chief Thomas J. Hickcox and a police major, a position that was vacant at the end of the fiscal year.

Area II Criminal Investigation Division
Investigative operations fall under the Area II Criminal Investigation Division, which is headed by Captain John Dawrs and composed of the Criminal Investigation Section, Vice Section and Juvenile Aid Section.

During the fiscal year, CID underwent several significant changes. At the end of December 2003, Captain Julian Shiroma, head of the CID, and Lieutenant Henry Hickman, head of the CIS, retired. Captain Shiroma, head of the CID since October 1996, was replaced temporarily by Acting Captain Robert Hickcox, and Lieutenant Hickman was replaced by Acting Lieutenant Llewellyn Fukui. These acting positions left the Area II Vice Section without a lieutenant and the Juvenile Aid Section short one sergeant.

The Criminal Investigation Section suffered a major loss on January 27, 2004. Detective Wayne “Keala” Young, 44, a veteran of nearly 17 years, died in his sleep.

The Criminal Investigation Section (CIS) is headed by Acting Lieutenant Llewellyn Fukui and six detective-sergeants. The section is responsible for investigating all felony investigations relating to forgery, auto theft, white-collar crime, robbery, assault and murder.

During fiscal year 2003-2004, CIS investigated two murders and two attempted murders. At the end of August 2003, Jonah Mettler, a South Kona resident, was reported as a missing person. Immediately, foul play was suspected. This was confirmed when Mettler’s body was found by fishermen in November 2003. The body was found in a remote location along the Mahukona coast. Detectives are conducting follow-up investigations in this case and should be ready for prosecution in the latter part of 2004.

On March 23, 2004, Waikoloa restaurant owner Yukichi Ito was stabbed to death by a former cook. Yasushi Kato, the defendant, was arrested and charged. He is in custody awaiting trial.

One of the attempted murders involved a female stabbed with a knife by her boyfriend, and the other involved a male shooting another male in the stomach with a spear gun. In both cases, the responsible parties were arrested and charged and are awaiting trial.

During the fiscal year, CIS became more actively involved in Area II property crime investigations. Detectives investigated 48 burglaries, compared to 39 during the previous year; 380 thefts, compared to 309 the year before; and 203 financial crimes, compared to 129 in the previous year.

The Juvenile Aid Section (JAS) is composed of five detectives and two officers. The section is responsible for investigating juvenile crime, domestic violence and all sexual assaults.

JAS experienced increases in its workload during fiscal year 2003-2004. Detectives and officers investigated 197 sexual assaults, versus 173 the previous year; 20 property crimes, compared to 17 the year before; 126 domestic violence cases, compared to 101 in the previous year; and 106 youthful offender cases, versus 90 the year before.

The Vice Section is responsible for investigating all drug crimes, illegal gambling and morals crimes.

The section is staffed by a lieutenant, four detectives and six police officers.

At the start of the fiscal year, the Vice Section was headed by Lieutenant Robert Hickcox.

During fiscal year 2003-2004, the Area II Vice Section experienced a significant drop in its marijuana eradication program. The reduction can be attributed to a large increase in hard drug cases — 403 hard drug cases, a 22 percent increase over the 331 cases the year before.

The new "Ice" Task Force made a significant contribution. Operating only eight months out of the fiscal year, the unit managed to initiate 247 "ice" cases, make 297 arrests, execute 61 search warrants and identify 18 new "ice" traffickers.

In May 2003, Detective Ernest Saldua of the Area II Vice Section and Agent Neil Rogers of the Federal Bureau of Investigation started up a joint investigation, dubbed "Shaved Ice" — later rated as the Drug Case of the Year by the High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area (HIDTA) Program. As part of an Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force Investigation, the department and FBI were joined by the Honolulu Police Department, federal Drug Enforcement Administration, federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives, U.S. Coast Guard, Immigration and Customs Enforcement Agency, Internal Revenue Service, Hawaii Air National Guard, Western States Information Network, U.S. Marshals Service and the Hawaii County Prosecutor’s Office.

Between May and October 2003, a total of 16 wiretaps were conducted by the joint operation. The initial targets, Big Island drug traffickers, were shipping multi-kilos of "ice" and cocaine to the Big Island from California through the U.S. mail and parcel services. The investigation linked the drug traffickers to major drug figures on the West Coast, and four additional drug trafficking organizations were dismantled. These lines went through Mexico, California, Nevada and Arizona. Excluding the drugs, currency and assets totaling more than $600,000 were seized and 15 firearms were recovered. More than 60 individuals were indicted and more than 50 search warrants were served on Oahu and the Big Island and in California, Arizona and Nevada. Spin-offs from this investigation continue today.

North Kohala District
At 123 square miles, the North Kohala District is the smallest of the eight police districts in area. The district is bounded by the Hamakua District at Honopue and the South Kohala District at Kaaopae. Patrol officers operate out of a central station located in Kapaa next to the fire station, courthouse and other state agencies.

During Calendar Year 2003, North Kohala recorded 168 Part I offenses and 440 Part II offenses. The more serious crimes included a rape, two robberies and four aggravated assaults.

With a population of 6,038, the district is staffed with a captain, a sergeant and 11 police officers. There remains two vacant police officer positions.

On April 16, 2004, Lieutenant Steven Guillermo, head of the East Hawaii Criminal Investigation Section, was promoted to captain and assigned to head the North Kohala District.

During March 2004, the Kohala Mountain Road (Route 250) was closed to traffic for nearly two months after it sustained major damage during a heavy rainstorm.

While repairs were being made on Route 250, North Kohala residents were again drenched in early April 2004 with a rainstorm that closed the Akoni Pule Highway (Route 270) just north of the North Kohala Police Station. Residents utilized a narrow horse-shoe-shaped road that passed in front of the North Kohala Hospital as an alternative route until the roadway was repaired.

Because the damaged roads are the main routes into and out of the isolated North Kohala District, residents experienced heavy traffic congestion on Akoni Pule Highway while road repairs were under way. Both roads were opened for traffic in early May.

South Kohala District
The South Kohala District encompasses 688 square miles and is the third largest district in the County of Hawaii. It is bounded by the North Kohala District at Kaiopae and the Kona District at Kaauau Point. Its officers operate out of a central station located in Waimea, a substation located at the Mauna Lani Resort in Waikoloa and a mini-station located at the Waikoloa Golf Course.

At the end of the fiscal year, the district was staffed by a captain, Chadwick K. Fukui, a lieutenant, three sergeants and 23 police officers.

In Calendar Year 2003, the district recorded 799 Part I offenses and 1,265 Part II offenses. Major crimes included seven rapes, three robberies and eight aggravated assaults.

Along with the Kona District, South Kohala is considered one of the fastest growing districts in the county with a population of 13,131, according to the 2000 census. Within the last 10 years, South Kohala has experienced tremendous economic and population growth. According to the most recent census research, South Kohala ranks second only to the Puna District in population growth. South Kohala’s population and economic growth is directly affected by the tourism, commerce, military, astronomy and shipping industries.

This population increase and economic growth has resulted in increased calls for various police services

On December 25, 2003, the department lost a recently retired police officer, Albert Dela Cruz Jr., who succumbed after a long battle with cancer.

Kona District
At 834 square miles, the Kona District is the largest of the eight police districts in size and the second largest in population, counted at 37,132 in the 2000 census. The police district encompasses the traditional North and South Kona Districts and is bounded by the South Kohala District at Kaauau Point and the Ka‘u District at Kaulanamauna. Its officers operate from a central police station located in Kealakehe, district stations in Keauhou and Captain Cook and a mini-station in Kailua Village.

At the end of the fiscal year, the district was manned by a captain, Robert P. Hickcox, three lieutenants, four sergeants and 51 police officers.

During the 2003 Calendar Year, the Kona District recorded the second highest number of crimes islandwide. A total of 2,776 Part I and 5,038 Part II offenses were recorded, for a combined total of 7,814 crimes reported — 30 percent of all crimes reported on the Big Island. The most serious crimes reported were two murders, 17 rapes, 20 robberies and 43 aggravated assaults.

Traffic enforcement is a high priority within the district. The Kona Patrol Division continued to aggressively pursue DUI enforcement, which resulted in a total of 507 arrests being made during the fiscal year. In addition, 19,383 traffic citations were issued in the district. A fair share of these citations was attributed to traffic enforcement efforts of an officer being assigned to Cushman duty during business hours in the Kailua-Kona town area.

Property crimes declined about 12 percent, attributed to coordinated efforts of the Patrol and Criminal Investigation Division in targeting drug offenders.

Ka‘u District
The Ka‘u Patrol District, encompassing 700 square miles, is bounded by the Kona District at Kaulanamauna and the Puna District at Keauhou Landing. Its officers operate out of a central station in Naalehu and a substation in Hawaii Ocean View Estates subdivision.

With a population of 5,827, the district is manned by a captain, Robert K. Kaaua, two sergeants and 14 police officers.

During Calendar Year 2003, the Ka‘u District recorded 327 Part I and 862 Part II offenses. The most serious crimes included two murders, four robberies and eight aggravated assaults.
Patrol Districts
Community Policing

The community policing mission of forming partnerships with the community in order to create a safe and secure environment continued to thrive during Fiscal Year 2003-2004.

Community police officers have continued to accomplish their mission through crime prevention, community mobilization and problem solving employing various strategies.

During this fiscal year, Sergeant Chad Basque was transferred from the Ka’u District to replace Sergeant Samuel Kawamoto to head up community policing operations in West Hawaii. In East Hawaii, Sergeant James Sanborn was promoted to lieutenant and remains in his current assignment.

Community police officers islandwide continued efforts to promote crime prevention programs — such as Neighborhood Watch, Home/Business Security Checks, youth activities and beautification projects — as these remain the centerpiece of community policing endeavors.

During the fiscal year, the program lost two Neighborhood Watch groups and gained three new neighborhood groups, raising the total to 168 active groups islandwide.

Nearly 60 crime prevention presentations covering varying topics were provided to community and school groups during the fiscal year. The topic that drew the most requests was workplace violence.

In addition, community police officers conducted nearly 52 Keiki ID projects, resulting in the issuance of more than 1,200 Keiki IDs within the community and schools on the Big Island.

Other notable activities involving community police officers included:

- July 4th festivities, Merry Monarch Festival, Aloha Week Downtown Hoolaulea, Countdown ’04 New Year’s Youth Activity.
- Hawaii Island United Way KTA Bag Brigade with the Hawaii County Fire Department.
- Hugs Not Drugs sign waving.
- Kick Butts-Project Pau (anti-smoking/drinking) youth activity.
- Weed and Seed Initiative in Pahoa.
- Partners in Elder Care (emergency kits).
- Solutions 2003/04 Conference (attended by Neighborhood Watch groups islandwide to identify community problems such as drug distribution, property crimes, traffic and animal control.)
Traffic Enforcement Unit

The Traffic Enforcement Unit is charged with the investigation of traffic crashes involving death or serious injury, with conducting traffic enforcement and training related to traffic enforcement and investigation.

The unit is staffed by a sergeant and five police officers.

On May 10, 2003, two drivers were indicted for manslaughter stemming from a crash that occurred on the Queen Kaahumanu Highway near Kua Bay. The crash took place on November 9, 2002, and was investigated by officers of the Traffic Enforcement Unit. They established that the crash happened during what could be described as racing on the highway. During the crash, a passenger in one of the cars was killed, and both drivers were indicted for manslaughter by a grand jury.

During the calendar year of 2004, all officers of the unit received extensive training in the reconstruction of traffic crashes taught by various instructors from the Institute of Police Technology and Management.

Calendar Year 2003 saw an increase of 7 percent in DUI roadblocks with a total of 94 for the year, versus 88 for the previous year. Seat belt checkpoints also increased 6 percent, with 70 checkpoints for 2003 versus 66 for 2002.

During the year, 1,075 motorists were arrested for drunk driving, a 23 percent increase over the 873 arrested the previous year. There were 2,363 major accidents during the year, compared to 2,260 the year before, a 5 percent increase. There were 35 traffic fatalities during the year, a 25 percent increase over the 28 killed in 2002.
